BACKGROUND:

Since joining Ashbaugh Beal in 2007, I've primarily served as outside general corporate counsel for Washington-based companies, entrepreneurs and business owners, providing strategic and innovative counsel and advice. My practice focuses primarily on securities offerings, corporate finance, mergers & acquisitions and intellectual property, but with serving my clients in their everyday business matters and transactions, my practice also involves diverse and nuanced contract work.

As a member of the Corporate Securities Group at Ashbaugh Beal my goal is to provide my clients with cost-effective, creative and efficient solutions to their business problems, as well as helping negotiate and close the deals necessary to make their businesses grow and succeed.

Essentially, my business is making your business work.

As an example of my commitment to staying on the cutting edge of the law, and giving back to the Seattle community, I teach basic contracts at the University of Washington School of Law as a part-time professor.
