BACKGROUND:

I concentrate my practice on resolving problems in a creative and efficient manner, with the majority of the results achieved through finding ways to use insurance proceeds as a means to get things done. I pride myself on being able to tackle the most complex of issues, and in the process finding the right outcome for my client. In this regard, I have worked with numerous commercial business owners, condominium associations, and property owners, and strive to provide superior, personal, and responsive service each and every time.
